You can have up to a 2 line headline here.

Optional Single Lead Photo 920x275

This is where the caption goes. I believe you have enough for a two line caption without any problems going over into the next content area. I have done overflow hidden to test this idea. // SPECS FOR THE FINAL

There are four components that make up your final package:

- A minimum 700-word text mainbar
- TWO Webby element (that offers a two-minute experience)
- All coded onto the template (factoring the layout/design that best suits the story).

NOTE: These different storytelling elements cannot duplicate each other... they should compliment each other and together make for a stronger package.

In terms of the code, make sure you:

- Change the title tag <title>
- Add a headline
- Add your byline (linking to your email)
- Link to at least on external site
- Create a thumbnail teaser image for classmates to link to
- Link to three classmates' projects via teaser images

You file setup (naming and organizing files):

- On your computer create a folder for your final project
- In the project folder, create a folder that matches the categories/navigation directory/folders on <http://portraitsofla.ascjweb.com> server, in the 518_shared_class_site (See it via FTP)
- In there, create a folder titled first initial, last name Ex: rhernandez
- Name your first HTML file index.html.

NOTE: You will then upload your folder (rhernandez) which contains all your elements (index.html, images, etc.) into the categories/navigation directory/folders that matches your beat. Again, the directories are found on ascjweb.com server, in the 518_shared_class_site.

Your Final URL will be:

http://portraitsofla.ascjweb.com /2014/BEAT/YOUR_DIRECTORY
<http://portraitsofla.ascjweb.com /2014/education/rhernandez/>

Creating teasers for classmates:

- Crop an image to be exactly 150 (w) x 150 (h) pixels.
- Name thumbnail/image: firstinitiallastname-tzr.jpg
EX: rhernandez-tzr.jpg
- Upload that image into your final folder/directory on ascjweb.org
- Provide a headline, 30-word summary, link to your teaser image and link to your front page to your classmates
